

Rumi in Oslo

The mission of our Rumi in Oslo project is to express the eternal message of the classical Persian mystical poet Mevlana Jalaludin Rumi in the language of modern arts. The purpose of our project is cultural cross-fertilization: between modern arts and oriental spirituality; between modern culture and love-inspired poetry.

On September 10 at 8 p.m., in the informal setting of Erling Kittelsen's loft in Kongensgate 16, our project will for the first time be meeting the public. We will share a tasty Persian soup and improvise freely with artistic expressions inspired by Rumi. Creative contributions will be appreciated.

The Rumi in Oslo project is sponsored by the Art Council Norway.
